
Terra
Incognita
KATZ-NOIR

A zine/comic pitch about a rather timid, young adventurer who steps outside their comfort zone and ventures out into frightening, unknown lands full of mysterious ancient beings, dark magic and unexpected quests. Our protagonist begins the scory by descending into forgotten catacombs, a vast expanse of twisting tunnels and stairs, the only known passage to places they wish to explore. The panic sets in quickly after descending - they want to go back home almost immediately, but they discover that return is no longer possible. The only path guides them deeper and deeper, where ancient, cursed creatures lurk.

Young one, I shall grant
you safe passage.
Take the lantern with you.
It will light the way.
Ang guide you through the unknown lands.

The Lantern

The Lantern Keeper

Your journey won't be easy, young one. You must challenge yourself. You must try. Or else you will never go forward.

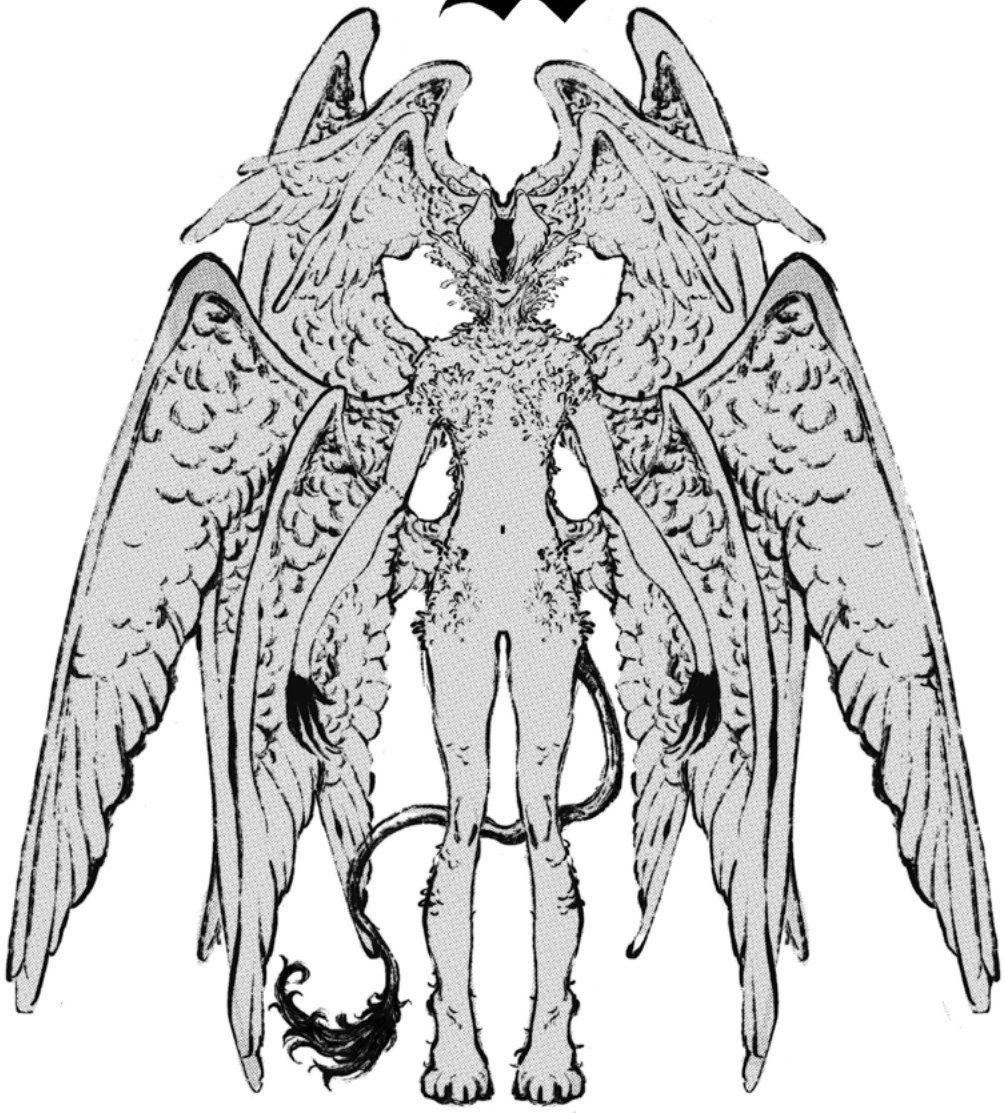

The Lady of Wings

A long time ago, there was a noble knight, a powerful sorcerer. A skilled fighter capable of taking down any beast. But with time, his bloodlust grew too strong. And it consumed his soul.
Is he still a man? Or just a malicious shadow? A cursed wraith in search of his old soul?

The Knight

Thank you for reading.

For more info or contact, you can follow me on instargam: @katz_noir

